

- -Beginning of the episode was kinda jarring. Got my attention for sure. Spidey is helping a criminal?! Whaaaaa???
- -This episode really comes out swingin. Pardon the pun
- -3:00-Ya know spidey/pp, COULD have grabbed that mask from the subway door. It was like 3/4ths out. Im just sayin...
- -JJJ's charity is "Diamonds for the Deprived"?! Really? Is that a thing poor people need? Diamonds? And I like the alliteration of the name of the charity, and it seems like their heart is in the right place..but..kind of a dubious cause, no?
- -This is actually not a totally BAD or unreasonable plan by this week's baddie
- -6:30- I LOL'ed at the stewardess cutting off the alcohol of passenger that saw spidey on the wing
- -Just an observation here, its funny that the one thing that the writers decided to have a "thread through" was the hatred of Spiderman. Hes a villian. Everyone thinks so. Whatever you do, dont let that go.
- -8:00-The NYC accents are strong in this episode. STRONG
- -9:15- The return of Beep Bop Music when we see computers. Love it
- -11:25 - So is this the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade?
- 13:30-Well its an origin story.. but a weak one at best
- -15:05-Stick to the script when on TV JJJ. He kinda went rogue and stopped reading his prompter. "Well if you ask me...they are both villians." Yeah, no one asked you, Trump
- -17:45-Another through line here..A double cross...Again
- -Just another observation here..How many ships on the sea currently are called "El Conquistador"?
- -20:15- good training of great white shark
- -21-JJJ the hero. What a dick.